Correspondingly, students' workload at TMA includes attendance at and involvement in lectures, group works (practical, laboratory, workshop, and curation) and development of clinical skills, as well as preparation for and passing examinations and independent work.
- 10.3 The volume of one-cycle educational programme at TMA, which is Medicine (Georgian language), and medicine (English language) is determined as 360 ECTS credits. One ECTS credit equals 30 clock hours; Students workload during an academic year is 60 ECTS credits (1800 clock hours), which totals 30 credits a semester. The study period includes a minimum of six (6) years.
- 10.4 Students' workload during an academic year may be determined as 60 credits. numbers above 60 may not exceed a total of 15 credits”.

Conferring credits using one evaluation component (midterm or final evaluation) only is unacceptable.

11.1.1 Students are admitted to a final examination if they accumulate 50%+1 score of the midterm evaluation. Student admission precondition to a final examination in some study courses may be a predetermined percentage margin of developmental evaluations, attendance at lectures and seminars, as well as the midterm evaluation on which detailed information is given in a study course syllabus.

11.1.2 Students shall get a minimum of 50% of the maximum score to pass a final examination.

11.1.3 After failing a final examination, students may retake it once. A make-up examination is held in the corresponding subject in a maximum of five (5) days after final examination results are announced.

11.1.4 Students may attend an additional examination (a repeat final examination) if a total score of their midterm and final examinations is 41-50.

11.1.5 Students have to re-attend a study course if a total score of their midterm and final examinations is less than 41.

11.3 If students fail to get an ECTS credit after completion of the study course, they may attend the study course in an intensive teaching format.

11.4 The assessment system allows five (5) types of positive (excellent, very good, good, satisfactory, and acceptable and two types of negative (FX) did not pass and (F) failed).

11.5 With the ECTS system, students are evaluated in accordance with the following scheme:

Grade	Evaluation

11.7 In calculating GPA, all evaluations at the corresponding stage of studies will be considered. GPA is calculated in accordance with the following procedure:

11.8 The corresponding coefficient in each study course is multiplied to a number of credits of the said study course, and the sum of these products is then divided by a total number of credits accumulated.
